The Stinehour Hotel was a booming establishment in 1900s.

The Village Core Master Plan is the name of the planning effort and the committee that is managing the project. Above is a preliminary concept sketch from the Feasibility Study the Town recently completed to take public input on the best/highest use of the property. Through public meetings and surveys we heard that residents want to see a mixture of public and private commercial use of the property. The concept behind the Community Celebration is to allow residents to use the space and envision the future for the site.
